

SYMPOSIUM ON ACTIVE FAULTING

17-22 JANUARY 2005 HOKUDAN (JAPAN)

PHOTOGRAPHIC REPORT

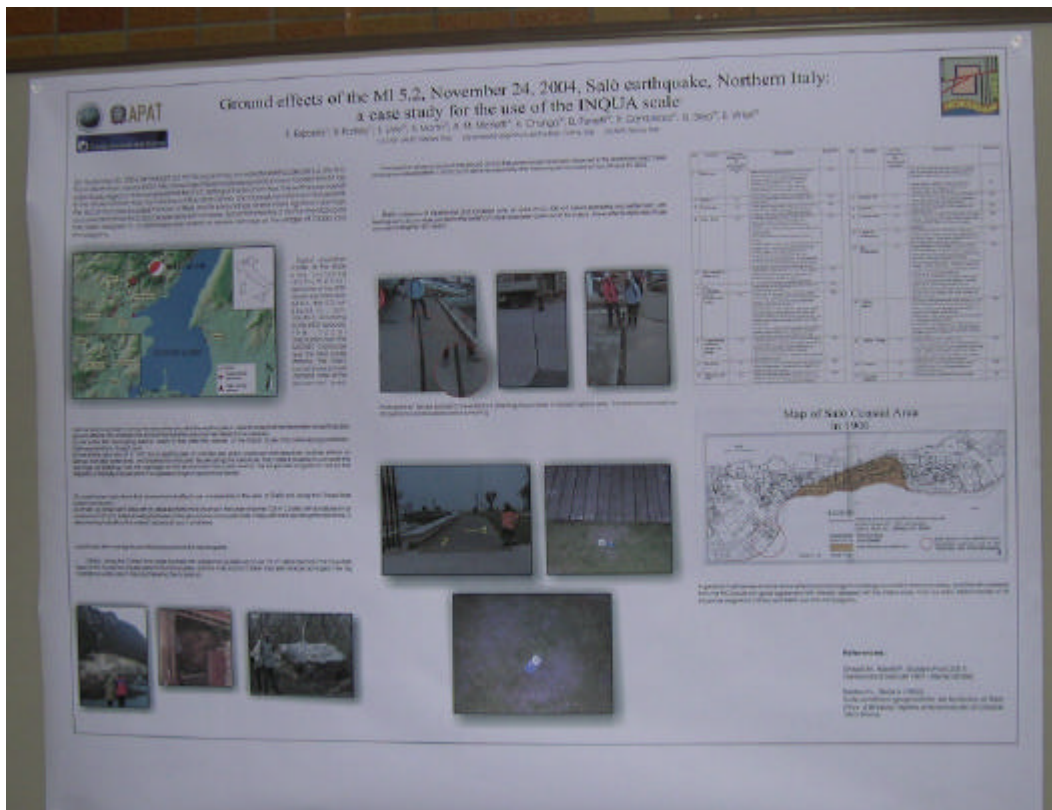

Hokudan: external view of the symposium area

Hokudan: A.M. Michetti, E. Vittori and L. Guerrieri in the room devoted to the oral sessions

Hokudan: M. Aurelio, G. Besana, A.M. Michetti, M. Meghraoui and Y. Kinugasa during a coffee-break

Hokudan: a poster focused on the application of the INQUA Scale to the Salò earthquake

Hokudan: signals on the road indicate the location of the Nojima fault, which reactivated during the 1995 Kobe earthquake

Hokudan: the trace of the 1995 fault rupture, as preserved in the Nojima fault museum.

Hokudan the 1995 fault rupture of the Nojima fault in a panoramic view (up) and in section with S. Porfido (below).

2004 Nijgata-Chuetzu epicentral area: a primary road interrupted by a huge landslide triggered by the earthquake

2004 Nijgata-Chuetzu epicentral area: a case of liquefaction which tilted the electric lines, covered by snow but evident in the picture (courtesy by T. Azuma).

2004 Nijgata-Chuetzu epicentral area: an example of fracture displacing the road pavement

2004 Nijgata-Chuetzu epicentral area: a fracture displacing a lateral wall of a channel

2004 Nijgata-Chuetzu epicentral area: a small house destroyed after the earthquake

2004 Nijgata-Chuetzu epicentral area: the group of participants lead by Y. Ota, with orange racket (courtesy by S. Porfido)