

About the Speaker

Geneve Farabegoli, Ph.D. – ISPRA (Italy)

Geneve has 20 years experience in Environmental Engineering developed in collaboration with the main European research institutes and Italian public or private companies. She has extensive experience in water and wastewater treatment, management systems for solid waste, environmental quality, certification, monitoring, impact analysis, environmental legislation.

She participated in the Sino-Italian Beijing Environmental Cooperation Project for the optimization of the water resource management of Tongzhou district of Beijing (China) and is the project manager of the IMPEL project “Integrated water approach” for sharing good practices in industrial water treatment and reuse implementing multiple EU requirements.